Best Practices – Event Registration Coordinator

Creating an Event in Bizzabo.com

1. There are 2 ways to create an event.
 - a. Click the “Create Event” button
 - i. This option works all the time, except when you want certain aspects of the event registration to be the same as other events, such as email templates, website format, etc.
 - b. Duplicate an existing event
 - i. Best for events that some or most of the aspects will remain the same.
 - ii. Be cautious about whether the event is a free event. It’s better to start from scratch unless you are duplicating another free dynamic event.

“Create Event”

2. Multi Session Event
3. Enter event name, start/end date/time, time zone, contact email (events@adventsource.org), category, registration type, attendance type, venue name and venue address.

Duplicating an existing event

4. Enter event name, start/end date/time, time zone, contact email (events@adventsource.org), category, and attendance type.
5. Choose what components to copy from the previous event
 - a. Website & Mobile
 - b. Automated Email
 - c. Event Email Domain
 - d. Email Templates
 - e. Registration Flows
 - f. Sponsors (if they are the same)
 - g. Exhibitors (if they are the same)
 - h. Agenda (if it is that same – you will have to adjust the date/time, so it might be better to export the agenda from the other event, edit the dates/times on the spreadsheet, then import on the new event.)
 - i. Speakers (if these are the same)
 - j. Contacts (if it is necessary to contact these individuals from the past event)
 - k. Lists (if the contacts are the same and the classifications would be the same)
 - l. Polls (if the polls would be the same)
 - m. Tasks (if the speaker/sponsor/exhibitor portal tasks are the same)

A ticket may appear to be free within Bizzabo but for it to be truly free and marked accordingly, the “Ledger Code” must read “FREE”. The treasurer will see the “FREE” in the report exported and mark the ticket as free in the final payment summary. The event coordinator will not be charged a per registrant fee for the tickets that are marked “FREE” in the ledger code.

If the event coordinator is moving funds around internally to mark the ticket as “free” then they will still be charged the per registrant fee.

ACH Authorization Form

Every conference or organization needs to send a completed & signed ACH Authorization Form to accounts@adventsource.org.

If the conference or organization already has one on file, we will use that one versus asking for a new one to be signed.

Estimated Final Payment Summary

Event Coordinators may ask for an estimate before the event. The Event Registration Coordinator will send the estimated final payment summary to the Event Coordinator. Please use the directions below when completing the final event statement excel sheet.

1. Pull the event revenue for credit card payments from Bizzabo
2. Use the formula for 3.5% of that in credit card fees (=credit card payments*.035)
3. The amount of registrations at the per registrant fee (that AdventSource is charging. ie. $4.00/registrant)
4. Input the event setup fee if there was one
5. Put on the statement somewhere that it's "As of this date ____"

Freebies

There are certain products that we offer as freebies for events. Women's Ministries events are primarily the only ones that receive freebies. Other events may need bags to hold all the goodies that they are gifting to their registrants. We may offer, at Brad's discretion, plastic bags that say "AdventSource" to publicize our business. The bags can hold up to 25 pounds.

Editing an Event After it is Published

When you edit an event after it is published, there are a few things to keep in mind.

- Anything you edit on the pages of the website that are public is available for anyone viewing the website to see.
 - Bizzabo automatically saves your progress while editing. You don't always have to click the save button
 - Work around
 - Edit the content on a hidden page then move it to the public page when the elements are ready.
- For events that are using the registration widget, any changes to the ticket types will not automatically change on the widget embedded on another website.
 - Work around
 - Generate a new code for the widget after you have made the edits, copy it & paste it into the website
- Changes to an event description within the website builder will change the entire event's description.
 - The event description is used within the mobile app and AdventSource.org on the list of events
 - Work around

Best Practices – Event Registration Coordinator

Printed Registrant List

When an event coordinator orders a printed registrant list, the following questions should be asked.

1. How many printed registrant lists would you like to order? Each printed copy is $25.
2. What fields would you like included on the list?
3. Would you like it alphabetized by first or last name?
4. Would you like a check box included on the list?
5. When do you want the list to arrive?
6. What date would you like us to pull the final roster?
7. How would you like to pay for the registrant list? Do you want us to bill the conference, take the fee out of the final payment summary (for paid events), credit card, or check?

The printed registrant list includes 1 printed list, a digital copy sent to the event coordinator, fields added according to the event coordinator, and alphabetized according to what the event coordinator ordered. Shipping is not included. If someone from AdventSource is attending the event, we can send the list with that individual to take out the shipping cost.

The printed registrant list is product# 100357.
